Known as one of America’s best youth leadership development speakers, Ted Wiese works with thousands of students every year to teach and enhance their leadership skills. Ted is in the business of making students believe they can make a difference - and he teaches them how to do it! From starting his career with Junior Achievement to establishing Wiese Training and Development, LLC, Ted’s dynamic and engaging programs have gained him a strong reputation for delivering results.

For years, the students at Ted’s presentations have laughed while they learned. His fun-filled keynotes contain contagious laughter coupled with a strong message, while his activity-oriented workshops develop student leadership skills in an energetic, highly interactive, humorous and effective manner. With wit, wisdom, real-life stories and a whole lot of fun, his programs leave students with information and skills to take back to school, ideas to put into action, and something good to talk about in the days and months ahead.

Whether you bring him to your school or conference for a keynote, workshop or concurrent session, he will work with you to make your event a memorable success. For more information go to www.heartedtalk.com
Kentucky FCCLA are you ready? The Ultimate Leadership Experience is coming to you from the Galt House in Louisville live with “FCCLA’s Got Talent!” March 19th through the 21st. Plans have been made to ensure that this year’s meeting is a success and we want all of you to be a part of the experience.

This year the keynote speaker for the opening session on Wednesday evening, March 19th, is Ted Wiese. He is a well-known powerful youth speaker nationwide. Each year he works with thousands of students in an effort to enhance their leadership skills. He is in the business of making students believe that they can make a difference and teaches them skills they can use to do so. Since he began his career with Junior Achievement and continued by developing Wiese Training and Development, he has been known to bring about results through his programs. He will bring us the same positive presentation at the State Leadership Conference.

The State Executive Council has some changes to this year’s conference. Following the opening session members will be dismissed to attend regional meetings that will be led by each of the region’s officers. Also, at the conference you can look forward to fewer and larger sized concurrent sessions to attend. Arrangements are currently being made to confirm the attendance of some very special guests that will lead those and a Community Service Showcase will be set up during concurrent session rotations for students to share examples of community service projects being completed across the state. This year several exhibitors will be set up during the concurrent sessions as well for those in attendance to purchase items.

STAR Events competition has been moved back to one day this year and because of that we have several activities members can participate in to keep busy. On Wednesday afternoon members are free to tour the attractions of Louisville and at 3:00 p.m. a Zumba class will be held. Throughout the conference be sure to keep an eye out for “Flat Stanley” State Officers around the hotel. A Twitter and Instagram account will be set up for members to tag KY FCCLA when taking pictures with the cutouts. After the banquet on Thursday evening a Cast Party will be held for everyone. A dance instructor will be present to teach everyone line dances.

The 69th Annual State Leadership Conference is quickly approaching and we look forward to seeing each and every one of you there! Kentucky FCCLA are you ready? Make sure to register soon and bring your talent to this year’s “KY FCCLA’s Got Talent!
Kentucky Exceeded Expectations in Charlotte, NC!

November 22\(^{nd}\) through 24\(^{th}\), 2013, representatives from Kentucky attended the National Cluster Meeting held in Charlotte, North Carolina. The theme of this meeting was “Exceeding Expectations”, which is exactly what KY FCCLA did!

During this meeting, students learned about an organization called, Snap-2-Live, an initiative in support of the United Nations’ “Decade of Action for Road Safety” campaign. Snap-2-Live belts are fashion accessories that look like actual vintage automobile seat belts and buckles, and act as highly visible reminders of what we can do every day to save lives on the road. Snap-2-Live pledges 70 percent of profits to road safety initiatives, creation of new roads and safe communities for under-served families in developing countries.

Students competed in many different competitive events.

Winners include:

Culinary Food Art-
Tied for 2\(^{nd}\) Place Grayson County High, Madison Willis

Culinary Knife Skills-
2nd Place Grayson County High, Jo Trator

FCCLA Creed Speaking & Interpretation-
1st Place Crittenden County, Audrey Smith
2nd Place Sharp Middle School, Michael Smith

Impromptu Speaking-
1st Place Crittenden County, Amber Wright
3rd Place Crittenden County, Hannah Hardin

Knowledge Bowl finalists-
DuPont Manual students Captain: Callie Kidwell, Caroline Folz, Anthony Springate, Paige Thompson, and Emily Wilbar. DuPont Manual is to compete at the July National Leadership Conference in San Antonio, TX

Kentucky FCCLA truly exceeded expectations, developing leadership skills, competing in competitive events, attending workshops, and listening to inspirational speakers. If you have not attended a National Cluster Meeting yet, I highly encourage you to attend one of the 2014 National Cluster Meetings in Little Rock, Arkansas, Salt Lake City, Utah, or New Jersey!
State-Wide Community Service Project:

I hope that as the 2013-2014 school year comes to a close you haven't forgotten to contribute to the State-Wide Community Service Project! Kentucky this past year has been able to assist military personnel, active or retired, and their families. Please continue to assist our service members and their families this year and beyond. Currently only 10 schools have submitted their activities for the year. It is not too late for you to become involved. Please send pictures, statistics, activities, and more to the Kentucky State Vice President of Community Service Megan Hughes at megansoccer2410@gmail.com. If you would like to become involved with local activities or if you have any questions you can contact your Chapter advisor, Regional advisor, or me, Megan Hughes.

Thank you for your continued support and efforts to promote the State-Wide Community Service Project!

-Megan Hughes

Student Leadership Day took place February 10-11th in Frankfort, Kentucky. There, FCCLA State Officers were joined by other State Officers from different branches of Career and Technical Student-Led Organizations. That include, FFA, FBLA, HOSA, Skills USA, DECA, FEA, and TSA from all across the state of Kentucky. They all attended a workshop about the legislative process Monday night. On Tuesday, the officers attended the Education Committee meeting where the FFA State President, gave his testimony for the committee. After that, Officers met with their district Representatives and Senators to thank them of their support of Career and Technical Education and Career and Technical Student Organizations. At eleven a rally was held at the Capitol rotunda, hosted by the FBLA State President and included our FCCLA State President, Michaela Mineer. The rally had two guest speakers who are products of Career and Technical Education themselves and spoke on even though they are not in the area of CTE they learned many lessons that they use every day because of it.

King’s Size
King’s Cause
By: Taylor Stewart

Hearts for
(1st Vice President)
It’s no secret that Family, Career and Community Leaders of America members and advisers become close. Between long hours dedicated to competitive events, meetings, projects, and more, everyone in the FCCLA community becomes a family. When a FCCLA family member goes through a difficult time, everyone wants to do what they can to give service. A year-long community service project in Region 15, “King’s Size Hearts for King’s Cause” directly benefits Ms. Elise King and her one year old son. Ms. King is a Family and Consumer Sciences teacher and FCCLA adviser for Western Hills High School in Frankfort, Kentucky. In January 2013, Ms. King’s husband was diagnosed with cancer. He passed the following April. Ms. King, Region 15, and Kentucky FCCLA were heartbroken. She and her students were very active in their region. They often had members that held regional offices, served on regional committees, and competed in STAR Events. Because of Ms. King’s dedication to Region 15, the regional officer team wanted to show their appreciation of her service. Over the course of the school year at all regional events, members and advisers have sold King Size candy bars for one dollar. All proceeds are directly donated to her son’s education fund. “FCCLA is more than just an organization. We are a family,” says Region 15 President Julia Little (Boyle County High School). “She is a dear friend to every adviser and a joy to be around. Ms. King and her students play a significant role in the success of our region.” The total amount of money collected for Ms. King and her son’s education fund is to be calculated at the end of the school year.

Curious George Fun Day

Curious George Fun Day was a one day program held at Butler County High School on November 23, 2013. Second and third graders were invited to attend and experience a day of fun and reading. The children received a t-shirt and the book Curious George Takes a Job. Throughout the day children had the opportunity to paint, decorate cookies, make skits, watch a Curious George film and have free play time. The children were also served breakfast and lunch. FCCLA members Allison Kurfiss, Bailey Hunt and Rachel Johnson coordinated the event. The members said that they wanted to have this day because there are so many activities for children surrounding sports and other things but few that emphasize reading. They said they felt it was important to show the children that reading can be fun and can be applied to everyday life.

IT CAN WAIT CAMPAIGN
Washington County High School Sophomores Jenny Begley and Claire Miller recently attended the Teen Distracted Driving Summit in Washington D.C. The two were one of only 12 pairs of students that applied for and received an all-expenses-paid trip to the conference. One of the most eye-opening revelations was that it takes approximately six seconds to read a text message, and within those six seconds, you've travelled the length of six football fields. Having learned facts like these Jenny and Claire decided to take their knowledge back to their hometown. In April, before Prom, Washington County FCCLA will be doing a mock crash scene trial on distracted driving and showing students the dangers involved with it. Traci Blanford, WC's FCCLA adviser that accompanied the two on the trip, said that all of the students will have a chance to follow a student through four different scenes: at a party, at a head-on collision, at a hospital and then, finally, at a funeral. Once each student has been through each scene, a guest speaker will wrap up the demonstration at a school-wide assembly. Jenny Begley hopes it will have an emotional impact on the students and will help decrease distracted driving in their community. The mock crash is one of many ways they plan to decrease distracted driving in their community. They have registered WCHS on the website celebratemydrive.com to raise more awareness at their school. The two have also talked to the U.S Representative for Springfield’s district, Brett Gurthrie, to see if he could help change and implement the policies. There are a variety of apps dedicated to stopping distracted driving, but the one that stood out the most to Begley doesn't allow any texts to come through to a driver. “This is a really serious case in our society, and we need to find ways to diminish it." –Jenny Begley
